The paparazzi's flashbulbs aren't the only reason you're seeing spots on the red carpet—Hollywood's fashion trailblazers have embraced the polka dot. This pattern is going around, whether you're seeking fifties-era glamour or a more playful girlishness. "Right now we are at a very feminine time in fashion," says celebrity stylist Danna Weiss, who has worked with Marcia Gay Harden. "Polka dots are one of the most feminine patterns you can wear. They're very fun and light. It's a ladylike way to be flirty."
