Hitting the wrong key

Alicia Keys' bandleader top and ill-fitting leather pants strike a sour note. While the top looks costumey and the pants could use tailoring, fashion expert Danna Weiss says that if Alicia covers up her bra and swaps the leather pants for slim-fitted capris, she'll be in tune.

Alicia's winning look

Alicia is stunning in this elegant gown. The V-neck adds serious sex appeal without baring all.

Meryl's fashion peril

Meryl Streep has layered several bulky pieces on top of each other, making her look too boxy. Weiss says she'd look best in black cigarette pants with a matching blazer.

celebs strike out, but can these Oops! outfits be saved?

HEATHER HAS GOTTEN WAY TOO LAX WITH HER STYLE.

Boots are made for mocking

Heather Locklear's fab figure gets shortened by the tall boots and long jacket, says Weiss. Calf-high boots and a shrunken jacket would elongate her

SINCE WHEN DO CLOTHES GET CHICKEN POX?

Connect the dots

Susan Sarandon's polka-dotted combo is too shiny, the colors clash and the shoes are plain bizarre. Weiss says a floor-length, chocolate-colored dress would be spot on.

SHE HOPED HER TOP WOULD HIDE THE FACT THAT SHE'S NOT WEARING PANTS!

Dizzying print

Busy patterns are overwhelming on large pieces, like Jessica Alba's graphic-print dress. Weiss says this dress would look fine in solid black with a leather hip belt.
